COMMISSION RULES
1. Commission Ticketing Conditions	Tickets must be validated on Air New Zealand (086) ticket stock with the appropriate tour code in the tour code box. If the tour code is not shown in the tour code box, but all other booking and ticketing requirements as per the rules of the fare (Published or Net) being used are met, there will be an automatic $50 fee charged to the Retailer to review and reassess the Agency Debit Memo.
2. Waivers	Advance Purchase and Minimum Stay: Provided the NU0115 is placed in the tour code box Air NZ will waive the advance purchase and minimum stay restrictions on Air NZ published fares from the USA and Canada to Australia. Ticket Time Limit: Provided the NU0115 is placed in the tour code box Air NZ will waive ticket time limit restriction on Air NZ USA and Canada originating published fares (to any destination) to allow ticketing to occur up to 9 calendar days (including weekends and holidays) from the original booking date. Any last ticket dates applicable to the published fare shall apply, and tickets must be issued 9 days after making the reservations or by the last ticket date of the fare, whichever is earlier.
3. NZ Code share disclosure requirements	NZ code share flights are permitted as per the Published Fare Rules. In the USA, the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT), and in Canada, the Canadian Transportation Agency (CTA) or the relevant government regulatory authorities require that the Retailer must advise their clients of any codeshare services before they make their booking commitment. This applies to both domestic and international services. The Retailer agrees to comply with these applicable regulations.

All other rules and conditions of the sale of Published Fares shall apply

Ancillary Products: Economy Skycouch™, pre-paid bags, pre-paid seats, unaccompanied minors (UM) fees.	Ancillary Products issued on Electronic Miscellaneous Document (EMD) remitted through ARC or BSP will be eligible for the same commission/discount level associated with the ticket.
